Description

Government 2305 is a study of the organization, functions, and administration of the several branches and agencies of the national government, including a study of the federal constitution. The primary factors considered relate to the three branches of government - judicial, executive, legislative -- major historical documents, the events that shaped the nation, and current events. Emphasis will be placed on the interaction of these subsystems. 48 contact hours. Credit: Three semester hours.

Course Requirements

Exams

You will have four exams and a comprehensive final over the course of this semester. The first four exams will be all multiple choice. You need the AcuScan 28980 Scantron for all exams in my class. Each exam will be weighted as 100 points of the 1,000 points available to earn of the course grade. The final will be 100 questions. The final is cumulative and will consist of 25 questions from each of the preceding examinations for a total of one hundred questions you have already seen and attempted. The final will be weighted as 200 points out of 1,000 points possible in the class.

Research Assignments

Write a 500-1000 word essay that describes one of the topics assigned for the course. The essay should fully answer the questions with supporting citations in MLA format. The paper should be double spaced with 12 point font and normal alignments.

Quizzes

Quizzes will be conducted in class. Quizzes will consist of review questions over lecture and your textbook. Quizzes can be made up in my office if you were unable to attend class due to illness and you have a doctor's note. There will be ten quizzes worth a maximum of twenty points per quiz. Quiz grades will be available within 24 hours through the "Progress" tab on e-campus, underneath "grades."

Extra Credit

Students will be given an opportunity to earn five extra points for each unit by successfully completing the game assigned for that unit from the www.icivics.org (<http://www.icivics.org/>) website. Students will obtain credit by submitting a saved copy of the completion certificate to the e-campus email by the end of each unit.
